Objectives of the Seminar:

The well-defined parameters and guidelines provided by NAAC facilitate the creation and operation of the IQAC in the institutions of higher education in India. IQAC is the totality of systems, resources and information devoted to setting up, maintaining and improving the overall quality and standards of an institution. If quality is required to be assured we need a structured quality assurance mechanism that makes it possible to monitor, improve and evaluate quality. Since quality enhancement is a continuous process, the IQAC becomes a part of the institutions and work towards the goals of quality enhancement and ensuring quality education. The IQAC needs to be constantly involved in the management and maintaining the quality of education. Thus, IQAC of is an effective and efficient coordination and monitoring mechanism. The role of IQAC in the post accreditation period in the institutions of higher education is even more crucial, distinct and important as it works towards further improving and maintaining the quality higher education identifying and suggesting new ways of using teaching aids, developing suitable infrastructure and suggestions for new self financing course. Its prime task is to develop a system for conscious, consistent and catalytic improvement in the performance of the institution and to make significant and meaningful contribution to the post accreditation quality initiatives of the institution and accordingly get prepared for the next assessment. In view of this significant role of IQAC in the field of higher education this seminar is organized basically with the following objectives:

- (i) To analyse the problems of IQAC in maintenance of quality in higher education and find out their remedies
- (ii) To examine the role of different stakeholders for better coordination among them to make higher education more effective
